Daily Research Summary - Oct 19th, 2026

送信者: Eurasia Group 受信日時: 2026-10-20 08:35

【メール原文】

Your daily summary of the latest Eurasia Group research, curated for you.|||||||||||||||

Your daily research summary

Customize Email Preferences
Oct 19th, 2026

Global Macro

Prices likely to rise above $110 amid expected November escalation

By EG Energy, Climate & Resources, Gregory Brew

Oil prices have risen to nearly $110 per barrel for Brent, and are likely to go higher on expectations of US escalation.

Access full content

Sector Coverage

US: Democrats would use majority to reset terms of AI debate

By EG Geo-technology, Scott Bade, Heather West, et al.

Committee chairs will be in the lead as Democrats spend the next few months negotiating their internal differences on AI policy.

Access full content

Brussels will aim to industrialize AI through 2027

By EG Geo-technology, Nick Reiners

This report assesses the trajectory of EU AI policy through 2027 across regulation, industrial policy, sovereignty and competitiveness . Brussels' principal lever is regulation, but it has little exec…

Access full content

A world run on Chinese AI models and US chips

By EG Geo-technology, Gerard DiPippo, Heather West, et al.

AI competition is four races, and the US will not win them all. Our basecase (55%) is a world mostly running on Chinese models with US chips and clouds; the main alternative (30%) is a runaway US lead as AI-accelerated research compounds.

Access full content

© Eurasia Group. All rights reserved. This material was produced by Eurasia Group for use by the recipient. This is intended as general background research and is not intended to constitute advice on any particular commercial investment or trade matter or issue and should not be relied upon for such purposes. It is not to be made available to any person other than the recipient. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or otherwise, without the prior consent of Eurasia Group.

Opt Out | Customize Email Preferences