

Oil Markets in Crisis: Navigating the Escalating Middle East Disruption

送信者: EG Events 受信日時: 2026-09-17 00:00

【メール原文】

Eurasia Group's Energy & Resources team hosts a conference call to assess the rapidly evolving situation in the Middle East and its implications for g|||||||

Upcoming Conference Call

Oil Markets in Crisis: Navigating the Escalating Middle East Disruption

Eurasia Group's Energy & Resources team hosts a conference call to assess the rapidly evolving situation in the Middle East and its implications for global oil and gas markets. Analysts will discuss geopolitical and market implications from the closure of Saudi Arabia's East-West Pipeline following drone attacks and the Houthis' seizure of the Bab al-Mandeb Strait.

Friday, 18 September at 10:00 am EDT / 7:00 am PDT / 11:00 am BRT / 3:00 pm BST / 6:00 pm Dubai

Submit questions in advance here .

Topics:

- * Supply disruption outlook and oil price trajectory through year-end: How the dual closure of the Strait of Hormuz and the Bab al-Mandeb chokepoint, compounded by the Saudi East-West Pipeline shutdown, is tightening global crude markets, and what the path to recovery looks like heading into 2027.
- * The US-Iran standoff: Escalation or diplomacy? Why a deal over Hormuz is now unlikely in 2026, how Iran's incentive to expand attacks is growing, and how Washington's "pressure campaign" posture shapes the risk of significant escalation.
- * Downstream market impacts for refined products, LNG, and supply chain ripple effects: How disruptions to Gulf refining are driving diesel and jet fuel prices to record highs in Europe, the growing role of Russian LNG as a backstop for European gas markets, and the implications for energy-intensive industries globally.

RSVP

Speakers

Henning Gloystein

Managing Director, Energy & Resources

+44 (0)73 898 444 98

gloystein@eurasiagroup.net

About Henning Gloystein

Based in London, Henning covers geopolitical risk in oil and natural gas markets, the transition from fossil fuels to renewable energy, and the environmental pressures of urbanization and industrialization on emerging market economies and natural resource supply chains. A particular focus since 2020 has been the emergence of clean hydrogen as a fuel and an industrial feedstock. Henning also helps major industrial firms analyze risks in their global supply chains. Before returning to London in 2021, Henning was based in Singapore for seven years, covering the rise of the Asia-Pacific region to become the world's biggest consumer of natural resources. Before joining Eurasia Group in 2019, Henning was the Asia energy editor and deputy editor in charge of Asian commodities at Reuters. Before that, he led Reuters's European power, gas, and coal coverage from London. Henning was introduced to the world of energy and commodities working for Platts in London, where he led the European power pricing team during the region's market liberalization period. Henning has a dual master's degree in history and politics from Humboldt University and in science and technology from Technical University in Berlin. Henning is bilingual in English and German and speaks fluent French and Spanish.

Gregory Brew

Senior Analyst, Iran & Energy

+1 646 259 3207

brew@eurasiagroup.net

About Gregory Brew

Gregory Brew is a senior analyst with Eurasia Group's Energy & Resources team focusing on the geopolitics of oil and gas. In addition, he serves as Eurasia Group's country analyst for Iran. Greg is a historian of modern Iran, oil, and US foreign policy. Before coming to Eurasia Group, he was a Kissinger Visiting Fellow at the Jackson School for Global Affairs at Yale University and a postdoctoral fellow at the Center for Presidential History at Southern Methodist University. He has written two books on the history of modern Iran and has published analysis and commentary in Foreign Affairs, Foreign Policy, War on the Rocks, Time Magazine, the Los Angeles Times, and the Washington Post, among other outlets. He has also made media appearance to discuss energy and geopolitics, including on National Public Radio, BNN Bloomberg, the BBC World Service, and Bloomberg's Odd Lots podcast. Greg holds a doctorate in history from Georgetown University. When he is not working, he enjoys hiking, cycling, spending time with his family, and revisiting sci-fi television from the 1990s.

Conor Frydenborg

Associate, Energy & Resources

+1 202.540.5149

frydenborg@eurasiagroup.net

About Conor Frydenborg

Conor Frydenborg is an Associate in Eurasia Group's Energy & Resources practice, based in London. He supports corporate and financial clients in understanding how geopolitics, regulation, and macroeconomic trends are reshaping the energy system, with a particular focus on European climate and energy policy and its implications for industry and investment. Before joining Eurasia Group, Conor worked in Washington, D.C., and Brussels, holding roles at Eurelectric, the U.S. Department of State, and the Federal Reserve Board. He holds an M.A. in Global Risk from Johns Hopkins SAIS (Bologna) and a B.A. in International Affairs with a minor in economics from the George Washington University.

How to Join

Please note this invitation is non-transferrable and space is limited.

Registration for this event is required.

After registering, you will receive an email with instructions to join the meeting, including local dial-in information and a meeting invitation you can add to your calendar. Please note you must be logged in from a computer or mobile app in order to ask a question.

Please allow a few minutes before the call to join the meeting, and connect audio by following the prompts from the conference call platform.