Deadline Approaching!

[Webinar] 2026 World Trade and Investment Report: Free Trade System Standing Firm in an Era of Normalized High Risk

Recommended for:

☐ Those in management planning, external relations, or overseas business divisions seeking to understand medium to long-term global trade and business trends

☐ Those wishing to gain a comprehensive overview of global and corporate investment trends, industrial policies, and strategic industries such as semiconductors, decarbonization, and data centers

☐ Those seeking information on U.S.-China tensions and their impact on trade policies, geopolitical risks and economic security, and developments in WTO, FTA, and digital agreements

Using the "2026 JETRO World Trade and Investment Report" as a foundation, this webinar examines international economic trends in an era where high risks have become the norm (new normal) from three perspectives: "World and Japan's Trade," "Corporate Direct Investment and Major Industry Trends," and "Trade Policy, Economic Security, and Sustainability." In addition to introducing the latest data and trend analysis that international business practitioners should be aware of, the webinar will present practical information on the operational realities of recent trade and investment-related rules and regulatory compliance measures for participants to utilize.

This webinar is specifically targeted at small and medium-sized enterprises.
