Oil Markets in Crisis: Navigating the Escalating Middle East Disruption

Sep 18th, 2026

Eurasia Group's Energy & Resources team hosts a conference call to assess the rapidly evolving situation in the Middle East and its implications for global oil and gas markets. Analysts will discuss geopolitical and market implications from the closure of Saudi Arabia's East-West Pipeline following drone attacks and the Houthis' seizure of the Bab al-Mandeb Strait.

Submit questions in advance here .

Topics:

- * Supply disruption outlook and oil price trajectory through year-end: How the dual closure of the Strait of Hormuz and the Bab al-Mandeb chokepoint, compounded by the Saudi East-West Pipeline shutdown, is tightening global crude markets, and what the path to recovery looks like heading into 2027.
- * The US-Iran standoff: Escalation or diplomacy? Why a deal over Hormuz is now unlikely in 2026, how Iran's incentive to expand attacks is growing, and how Washington's "pressure campaign" posture shapes the risk of significant escalation.
- * Downstream market impacts for refined products, LNG, and supply chain ripple effects: How disruptions to Gulf refining are driving diesel and jet fuel prices to record highs in Europe, the growing role of Russian LNG as a backstop for European gas markets, and the implications for energy-intensive industries globally.
