

Daily Research Summary - Aug 10th, 2026

送信者: Eurasia Group 受信日時: 2026-08-11 08:36

【メール原文】

Your daily summary of the latest Eurasia Group research, curated for you.|||||||

Your daily research summary

Customize Email Preferences

Aug 10th, 2026

Global Macro

Oil leaking through the Gulf will help keep prices lower

By EG Energy, Climate & Resources, Gregory Brew

US-Iran de-escalation is likely, with a deal to reopen Hormuz expected by mid-September. ~5mn bpd is still transiting the strait, keeping Brent in a $75–95 range. A deal would push prices to $65–75. Houthi disruption to Saudi Yanbu loadings partially offsets.

Access full content

Sector Coverage

Hormuz disruption positions Duqm to attract rerouted supply chain investment

By EG Middle East & North Africa, Nancy Wei, Hussein Suleiman

Duqm is best placed to attract supply chain redundancy investment driven by Hormuz disruption risk; Yanbu offers proven energy export potential but faces physical capacity constraints; and bypass corridors through Iraq and Syria face high execution risk.

Access full content

© Eurasia Group. All rights reserved. This material was produced by Eurasia Group for use by the recipient. This is intended as general background research and is not intended to constitute advice on any particular commercial investment or trade matter or issue and should not be relied upon for such purposes. It is not to be made available to any person other than the recipient. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or otherwise, without the prior consent of Eurasia Group.

Opt Out | Customize Email Preferences