Daily Research Summary - Nov 11th, 2026

送信者: Eurasia Group 受信日時: 2026-11-12 08:34

【メール原文】

Your daily summary of the latest Eurasia Group research, curated for you.|||||||||||||||

Your daily research summary

Customize Email Preferences
Nov 11th, 2026

Sector Coverage

Managed US-China stability will hold after midterms

By EG China, Dominic Chiu, Gerard DiPippo, et al.

A Democratic Congress will push for hawkish China legislation, but President Donald Trump will retain veto power and a desire for bilateral stability; meanwhile, Beijing has no interest in exploiting Trump’s weakened position to upend relations.

Access full content

The cyber risk of AI arrives as a thousand cuts

By EG Geo-technology, Noah Fehr, Heather West, et al.

A single AI-driven cyber catastrophe is unlikely. The real risk is a thousand cuts: criminals and hacktivists using AI to hit poorly defended organizations, with damage spreading through shared infrastructure.

Access full content

Corporate deals to remain a feature of Trump tariffs

By EG Geoeconomics, Lucy Eve, Blaise Hanson, et al.

Corporate bargaining for tariff exemptions is a feature of the Trump administration’s trade policy, now offering firms more relief than country deals. A Democratic-controlled Congress will scrutinize these deals but will not dismantle the framework before Trump leaves office.

Access full content

Now on iOS and Android
Get the Eurasia Group app
Read anywhere · Receive notifications · Reach out to analysts
App Store

Google Play

© Eurasia Group. All rights reserved. This material was produced by Eurasia Group for use by the recipient. This is intended as general background research and is not intended to constitute advice on any particular commercial investment or trade matter or issue and should not be relied upon for such purposes. It is not to be made available to any person other than the recipient. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or otherwise, without the prior consent of Eurasia Group.

Opt Out | Customize Email Preferences